

Katy Ashworth

Join Katy Ashworth for an afternoon of simple fun and play at The Harlequin Theatre on Sunday 9 October at 11:00am & 2:00pm.

Learn the raisin face, explore inside the magic suitcase, join in with the story making and help do some giant make-believe baking! Packed with everyone's favourite much loved nursery rhymes including 'Old MacDonald' and the 'Wheels on the Bus'.

Katy is one of the main CBeebies presenters and is the host of its flagship series called 'I Can Cook', which combines all of her performance skills. In the programme the children learn how to grow it, cook it and eat it accompanied by original musical pieces which she sings and plays with her acoustic guitar.

Katy has a natural bond with children and has spent much of her adult life educating and entertaining young kids through drama and music. She is an accomplished storyteller and is co-workshop leader for 'Little Sparks Storytelling' based at the Electric Theatre in Guildford, whilst also running a children's choir in Bristol. She's had great fun working at Disneyland in Paris as a character and parade performer and one of her highlights was travelling to Lapland and acting as the Arctic Express Elf! This love of entertaining a young audience has also led to her organising children's themed parties and events.

Katy Ashworth's very own interactive brand new live roadshow is a fantastic giggle-filled way to spend an hour of your day! Just don't forget to bring your imagination.
